Sandarshika

Sandarshika: Bridging the gap of gender inequity through skilling

In continuation of its efforts of women empowerment in Jaitpur village, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre went a step ahead to join hands with likeminded organizations working silently and contributing in empowering the underprivileged, especially the women.

“Sandarshika” was initiated as a collaborative effort a few organizations namely Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre (SSRRC), PRAYAS, Sangatt, Bird Academy & NANAK with the objective of grooming girls primarily from rural areas and per-urban spaces with tools of becoming navigators. The aim of the programme is to create better employability in Tier II cities/ smaller towns/ villages.

The project included innovative curriculum which focuses on personality development, self-defense and good communication skills which are integral to any employable skill with focus on tourism since it is driven by an assessment that this would promote not only Indian heritage but also boost local economy with greater participation of girls and women in public spaces.

In its first phase the project had been taken up initially in a pilot mode with a customized training package in Delhi with trainees from Bihar, Delhi and UP. The training was imparted by the Bird Academy- an agency which is among South Asia’s top 10 2011 IAT certified Authorized Training Centres. In a nutshell the project involved the skilling of girls from underprivileged background in non-traditional trade of tour guiding, travel arrangements, grooming, communication skills-dynamics of commentary and interaction, self-defense etc.

The concept behind “Sandarshika” was that no development is complete if its benefits do not trickle down to the womenfolk of the society. Even though notable progress has been made in gender equality, yet the potential of women to participate as agents of change is yet to be realized to its fullest. Since women have been identified as powerful change agents, steps are required on a continuous basis to counter the endemic failure to address the issues of women empowerment. “Sandarshika- Bridging Gender inequity through skilling”, was & is thus a response to the above felt needs since this initiative was especially tailor made for girls of vulnerable areas in tour guiding and related soft skills, which lead to social and economic empowerment of girls who are looking for opportunities to improve their status in the society.

In the first phase of this project 25 girls had been drawn from LWE affected areas of Rohtas District and its adjacent areas in Bihar and similarly from some vulnerable areas as Jaitpur, Gautam Buddha Nagar of UP and slum areas of Delhi. The candidates had been sponsored by organizations working to improve livelihood skill amongst girls from low socioeconomic background, namely NANAK, PRAYAS, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre & SANGATT. The first phase was spread over 17 days with intensive sessions of 85 hours of training involving theory, practical, interactive sessions and visits. The eligibility criteria were Higher Secondary education with primary factor being trainees willingness to learn.

Phase-II of the project entails a three month apprenticeship for the candidates desirous of opportunities to get hands on experience in the tourism sector for which Bird Academy will be providing the required tie ups. This would resultantly sharpen the skills of these practitioners who want to move further in this area of livelihood to become industry ready and get gainfully employed. Another significant benefit which was visible, was to help these young entrants to build confidence to promote undiscovered monuments and historical areas in their local region and thereby promote India’s heritage, art and culture. On successful completion of the course the candidates were awarded with the certificates by Bird Academy which has recognition by the tourism and hospitality industry.

Project Outcomes:

1. Participants were sensitized towards livelihood opportunities that exist in the non-traditional sectors.
2. It improved the self-esteem of the girls to tackle challenging situations in life with confidence.
3. It created seeding role models in backward areas so that more and more girls/women come forward to seek economic and social empowerment.

4. It also created a resource pool of professionally trained young girls/ women as tour guides.
5. It enhanced the employability of girls from economic and socially backward regions.

Sandarshika: bridging the gap of gender inequity

As we successfully achieved the outcomes and desired impact the project's first phase, it would be scaled up to accommodate more candidates from different areas of Bihar, UP and other areas where a demand for such training exists.

Dental Checkup Camp & Breast Cancer Awareness Workshop

Greater Noida 16th May, 2015, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre, the social arm of Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre, in association with JRE social initiatives organized a free dental camp for 6 village school children & breast cancer awareness workshop for village women at Jaitpur, Gautam Buddha Nagar, Greater Noida.

It launched a special initiative called #MakItHappen empowering women & children under the flagship program of “MeraGaon Meri Jimmedari” at the Govt. Primary School Jaitpur Village, Greater Noida. This initiative focused on two vulnerable sections of the society, the women and children. The camp benefited over 100 women from village as Dental camp and oral hygiene, Breast Cancer awareness also organized as a part of our adult education program for women – “GyanKosh”. These rural women empowered by knowledge & confidence for the first time they not only presented few village folk songs but also came up on the stage to thank Dr. Susha Singh of Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre for facilitating Dental Camp, Breast Cancer awareness workshop as a part of their “GyanKosh” program.

The event was graced by “Block Education officer, Mr. K. Singh” who was delighted to see the positive change in the attitude and facilities provided by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre– JRE Social Initiative and he assured us to provide Govt. assistance to re-establish our free primary health center in Govt. School premises. Mr. Singh kindly consented to provide certificates to the women participants of our adult education program “GyanKosh”

Key highlights of the event:

- First free Dental Camp of 2014 – 16 for 6 village school children with free tooth kit.
- First Self diagnostic Breast Cancer awareness workshop by Canadian volunteer.
- Demo of Self Defense techniques by our trained young girls.
- First screening test by college professors for selection of 10 village youth for employment opportunities of “Airport handling internship through” Bird Academy.

- Free lunch to celebrate empowering women

#MakeItHappen Program on 16th May was truly a success on it not only benefited more than 100 local village women, 55 young girls & 450 school students but also initiated unprecedented events & awareness as self-employment generating activities. A screening test was done & 10 village youth were selected after rigorous interview process for internship program by JRE professors who would go for with BIRD Academy.

Amongst some of the highlights of 16th May event was – first free Dental Camp with free toothbrush kit distribution, free self-diagnostic Breast Cancer workshop, free lunch for village school students & women, a demo cum training session of 2 hours on self-defense, folk song & thanking note by village women as part of “GyanKosh” program & the exciting part was that in absence of JRE student volunteers all the village team girls (who were trained by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre for English learning course, self-defense & had attended tour & travel certification course) took the charge of organizing the event.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre – JRE Social Initiative is thankful to all stakeholders Goodwill ambassadors for their support & would mention special thanks to Maxine Silva, Dr. Rita Bakshi, Dr. Vikram Gandhi, Dr. A. Sachdeva & Dr. Puneet Kathuria.

Commenting on this social Initiative, Dr. Sush Singh, Director, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre said “If you really believe in human rights then you would not only talk the talk rather you would act & walk the walk & this is what we have done at Jaitpur by taking our first step to empower rural women by giving them required education provided with physical training with self-defense & skill training sessions. Through this initiative our only endeavor is to reach out to the underprivileged rural women & young girls to make them able enough to be a part of decision-making in the society”.

16th May, 2015

Yuv-Disha

As a part of the project “Mera Gaon, Meri Jimmedrai” the rural youth and women from our selected village, model village - Jaitpur-Vaishpur, Gautam Buddha Nagar were identified, motivated and selected to undergo training with Kusum Foundation, Vibes & also with Bird Academy related to Tours, Travels and Aviation’s Industry. They were not only encouraged, given information and knowledge but were also imparted soft skills and communication skills. As a part of skilling Abhiyan, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre conducted four months certification course(12th June-2nd October, 2014) in Beauty and Wellness, Tailoring and stitching to the rural women of Jaitpur under project “Nari Shakti” . Some of them started with their own tailoring unit from home and some got connected with neighboring boutiques and hotel for small supplies as napkins. The young girls from village were also identified and motivated to attend self-defense workshops facilitated by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre and further they were coached by our college student volunteers for honing English and computer skills for six continuous months. Finally as group of six of them were selected and facilitated for three week certification course of self-defense and tourism related to employability in Delhi, in the month of April 2015 under the project “Sandarshika”.

Looking at the frustration and anger against unemployment amongst the village youth, the facility of computer training, English speaking sessions and mock interviews were provided by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre and JRE social initiative in the month of March, April & May 2015.

We are delighted to share that finally our hard work has paid rich dividend. 12 Village youth from Jaitpur & neighboring village have been finally selected and have been offered with employment opportunities by “Airport Handling authorities”. The interviews with Airport Handling Authority were facilitated by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre and Bird Academy. This effort has not only brought smiles on the frustrated underprivileged youth but has also brought cheers and hopes to the families of the youth. After this overwhelming response It has been decided to facilitate more of such training a skilling sessions under “Yuv-Disha” to empower rural women and youth so that they are able to move in right direction and contribute in reshaping the nation.

21st June, 2015

International Yoga Day - 2015

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre was proud to be a part of International Yoga Day as it organized the spiritual ancient practice of Yoga at premises of Govt. Primary School of Jaitpur village on June 21st, 2015 at the given International time.

To celebrate June 21 as World Yoga day, as the international community looked towards New Delhi show following the country's expertise in the age old science of yoga, thousands of yoga enthusiasts across the world today took to mats and stretched, bent and twisted their bodies in multiple complex postures as they marked the inaugural International Day of Yoga, celebrating the ancient Indian spiritual practice.

However, we did not see the same buzz in villages though we admit that India's soul resides in villages. Moreover, talking about the benefits of Yoga as PM Modi said, "In a world suffering from stress, Yoga promises calmness. Yoga creates concentration. In a world of fear, Yoga provides strength and courage, we do need this ancient Indian spiritual practice also in villages, especially in village schools to create awareness of a holistic approach to health and wellbeing.

It was a moment of pride for Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre to reach out to rural masses and encourage youth, children and women from Jaitpur and Sakipur villages from Gautam Buddha Nagar, U.P to participate in World Yoga Day. While, they were explained the glory of global endorsement of ancient Indian tradition of Yoga, they were also told about the real benefits of this spiritual practice. It was a momentous occasion to observe how the Villagers took to different Asanas and Pranayaams. It all started with a Prayer and ended with a shanti path. It was hilarious to see them singing a patriotic song with yoga trainer, Praveen Jha and Canadian guest, Maxine Murphy Silva. Our Goodwill ambassadors Dr. Rajesh Vashisht helped in distribution of glucose water, Banana and glucose biscuits. Our volunteer and supervisor, Ms. Varsha Sharma, a Yoga trainer herself, helped in getting the right postures for women and school children. Our goodwill ambassador Mr. Sanjay Kumar distributed 100 white tee-shirts for Yoga practitioners. At the end, showers swept across the national capital and NCR today minutes after the mega International Yoga Day event ended at Rajpath and at our small village at Jaitpur, thus giving much needed respite to people from the sweltering heat.

21st July 2015

Aware – Meri Saheli

(A Breast Cancer Awareness and Women Safety First Program)

We are delighted to share with you all that Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre had successfully launched its 2nd episode of event "AWARE"- Meri Saheli - A Breast Cancer Awareness and Women Safety First Program on 21st July 2015 at Tigri village. Tigri village provided us a vast scope of further research and intervention possibility through Manav purt Nayas - a local NGO. It was attended by 125 villages with 68 registered for BSE and 56 girls registered for self-defense technique training session. 6 women were diagnosed with lumps including them 15 went through Mammography facilities provided to us by Medanta. Our Junior Ambassadors from Jaitpur village demonstrated Self-defense techniques and motivated young rural adolescent girls to join our "Women Safety First Program" they helped rural women in getting themselves registered with us and also prepared them through a medical Questionnaire for Breast Self-Examination/BSE. They truly proved our effort of Making empowered team of rural young women teaching others and empowering other underprivileged as true friends. BSE was provided to all registers women by Medical technician and Cancer survivor Ms. Maxine Silva, our project consultant. A further follow up procedure was discussed with Manav purt Nyaas who has desired to take it further. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre would provide consultancy and any other faculty required for complete treatment for the identified women. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre presented Mementoes and flower pots to Ms. Usha Thakur ji from Manav Pur Nyaas, Dr. Sangeeta and Dr. Dhananjay from Medanta.

It is expected that the success of this event at Village Jaitpur and Village Tigri would help us to create such awareness and truly AWARE team of junior ambassadors in few more neighboring villages to reach out to more underprivileged rural women and girls. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre is truly thankful to its Goodwill ambassadors for their unstinted support in our every endeavor.

4th September 2015

Teacher's Day Celebration

Under the flagship project of “Mera Gaon, Meri Jimmedari” Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre celebrated Teacher's Day in Ram Rahim Memorials school at Jaitpur as per their request on 4th September 2015 at 10:30 Am.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre has made continuous efforts to create bonhomie and healthy competition amongst village school children by spreading awareness regarding important festivals, National holidays, National leaders and current affairs along with theme based competitions of art, culture and sports.

The highlights of the program of the day remained as such:

- Student volunteers talking of Krishna Janamashtami and Teacher's Day and biography of Dr. Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan.
- Screening of Educational clips on “Dr. A.P.J. Kalam” and “Truth always wins” with an interactive session related to moral values.
- Painting competition of different age groups (Class 4th – 6th) (Class 7th – 9th) and awarding the winners.
- First time students were encouraged to participate in extempore competitions.

Aware – Meri Saheli

Aware: Meri Saheli, Trilokpuri Slums

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre organize its third phase of Breast Cancer Awareness Program, AWARE in the slum of Trilok puri (35 BLOCK, Near Barat Ghar, Delhi) in association with local NGO Sewa Bharti and nescient organization HealthsetGo.

AWARE is pilot Breast health program of Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre in Delhi and NCR. AWARE is an acronym for All Women Age Related Education. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre is focused on providing quality education and awareness to the underprivileged through its community outreach programs. Mission of AWARE program is to get women to realize the importance of taking responsibility for their own health care and to develop essence of compassion and concern for women within the medical system. Managing Director - Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre, Dr. Sushi Singh believes that it is only through education and prudent dissemination of accurate, lifesaving information that we can make a difference.

In Trilok Puri slum area 114 children and women were registered 127, children were given free BMI measurement facility to teach the parents about the need of growing children which otherwise they do not understand. Women were shown a BSE (Breast self-examination) movie to make them aware about Breast health and how to do breast self-examination. The team from Medanta helped women with lot of patience to diagnose lumps and self-breast examination techniques. 12 women were identified with lumps and were screened by mammography van facilitated by Medicity. The junior brigade, young women from Jaitpur village identified as core group of breast health program and self-defense techniques also give a demonstration of self-defense to the adolescent girls of Trilok Puri area identified by Sewa Bharti.

We at Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre are thankful to our collaborating agencies with whom for are forging ahead in this worthwhile endeavor. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre is confident and hopeful that through AWARE, a community outreach initiative we would be able to address and ameliorate the road blocks to a successful campaign.

Diwali Celebration

“Ek Diwali Aise Bhi” - #AnotherWayToCelebrate

When all of Delhites and people in urban cities and villages were gearing up for Diwali celebrations and festive season ahead, in a small village Jaitpur at Gautam Budh Nagar, Uttar Pradesh, 55 Kms from Delhi, in a small primary school campus's community hall, a few girls whom we call our junior brigade brought their brooms and a little flour and their small brothers to help them out for celebrating a small pre-event of Diwali with us.

It was such a pleasant surprise to find the community hall totally clean with a small Rangoli in place (made out of homemade flour and color) decorated with tiny candles. When our intern reached there a few cards with messages in Hindi and English popped up from every corner of the class room. They made effort to write Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre School on paper and place it high on the entrance. Hey performed a few local dance steps and took pledge not to burst Diwali-crackers to make it a safe Diwali for all.

Our consistent efforts of awareness as well as empowerment were showing us visible impact. As I was not well they forced our intern from Amity and other volunteers to teach for an hour and dance with them for an hour while sending me pictures and video for the same. From Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre we sent notebooks, pencils, sweets, Chocolates and dry: fruits. It turned out to be the best personal and professional gift/reward form me for this Diwali.

The gender inequality and other Social issues we had been lighting for seems to be finding away. I wish every child and youth in the country understand this way of celebrating Diwali and spread the message that Diwali is a joyful festival with candles, lights, rangoli, flowers and sweets to celebrate the triumph of good over evil.

#HereWeGo @ CSR Sustainability

In a small tiny room of community hall at a small village in U.P, children of different ages were giving their feedback of yearlong attempt of student volunteers from Amity to Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre. It was heartening to see their enhanced responsibility and care for this rights.

As a part of EF-JRE Social initiatives we had been trying to make a difference, creating an impact and assessing the impact of our meaningful community engagement programs under the flagship project of “Mera Gaon, Meri Jimmedari”. This aims to fulfill and support/assist the educational needs of disadvantaged children in the slums of urban and rural areas in Delhi and NCR. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre has adopted a holistic approach with intensive programs focused on primary education assistance, facilitates quality education through Computer education, English learning classes and life skills educations while providing an improved learning environment an impressed learning environment using play and interactive methods.

While some of them are very regular, some are still struggling with English remedial classes due to irregularity. Inters and Students have been given the tasks and training by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre to don the hat of responsible young teachers to connect with these underprivileged and help them be aware of rights of education, health sanitation and much more which is generally not brought in their regular classes. Making this project sustainable is yet a challenge for us.

21st – 23rd December 2015

Launching of New Community Computer Centre

This was a perfect example of convergence of minded people organizations and pooling of resources for the cause of development of underprivileged sections of society. On December 21st Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre on request of Amar Jyoti did a joint survey of Khichdipur village slum area, Gazipur, East Delhi and realized the need of imparting computer education to the children of slum areas as the need of the hour. Amar Jyoti, which is a Charitable Trust which determined to bring especially abled children into main stream, spotted some hearing impaired and partially blind children along with from economically weaker areas and facilitated a small space for free computer center. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre which is determined to create a society which is equitable and human by emphasizing on quality education holistic development, come forward with free computers, required for computer training for trainers as "Training the trainers program". Modules were created and customized and to more trainers were provided by Learning Link Foundation for a 3 daylong 1st phase of training program. Children studying in grade 8 in Govt. schools or open schools or community schools were registered and trainers having a basic knowledge were selected for training program in 2nd phase this program will be assessed and repeated by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre alter 6 months. A perfect blend of pooling of resources shall lead by example for one of the community development program as it is said - "Sharing is Caring". Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre's – Managing Director, Dr. Sush Singh believes that CSR is caring the society responsibly. His is another example of #AnotherWayOfCelebration.

7th January 2016

New Year Celebration @Jaitpur Village

We had a great start of 2016 as we continued spreading joy of giving. We started our New Year celebration along with our supporter and goodwill ambassador, Shri Ram Foundation who helped us to cater the need of more than 400 students of village schools at Jaitpur. We began with a prayer followed by wishing a wonderful new year filled with abundance of joy and treasured moments. Then, the adolescent girls of our remedial English Speaking classes welcomed the guest from Shri Ram foundation followed by a welcome song by school students. At the outset, 130 students of Govt. primary school were motivated to participate in learning programs by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre followed by distribution of stationary, notebooks, workbooks, dictionaries, coloring materials and eatables. Our junior ambassadors took the guests from school to school for distribution of stationary and eatables. Dr. Sushi Singh, Managing Director - Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre and Mr. Hari Singh of Shri Ram Foundation motivated students to participate in learning process and also encouraged teachers in creating happy learning environment. The students from various school were encouraged to come and speak on the stage to share happy learning moments. Senior students were taught the use of dictionary. The need of a free public library was felt during the discussion. The day ended with demonstration of self-defense techniques by junior ambassadors of Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre.

The smile on faces of students and spark in their eyes of these underprivileged children made us felt truly blessed. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre promised these children to come back with more innovative learning solutions and workshops for creating awareness to contribute in their holistic development.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre was thankful to Shri Ram Foundation for their support and remained determined to reach out more disadvantaged group of children in rural areas.

15th January 2016

Makar Sankranti Celebration

It was heartening to see village girl students from our “English learning classes” were waiting to open the class. After New Year greetings, they all greeted us together Happy Makar Sankranti. We all discussed in English & Hindi about why we celebrate this festival. Though the girls from different age groups and from different schools and background are smart to understand and respond new concept of a class however it was good to see that some village boys joined the class willing fully. Some of them took the lead & outsmarted them by telling, "we are smarter when some of them came late and asked for classroom happening. We all discussed and planned for January 25th celebration as a multi-event day.

Girls from our class wanted to put up a street play on “Beti Bachao & Beti Padhao” concept, so they requested their student volunteer favorite teacher Ruby to help them out. Ruby promised to do so with some coaching on 2-3 days. The students were given an English joke to crack and then as assignment was given as homework. The class ended with songs “We Shall over Come” and distribution of eatables related to MakarSkranti.

26th January 2016

Republic Day Celebration

“Padhega India Tabhi to Badhega India”

Realizing the power of the same understanding the importance of good eyesight for students, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre along with its student volunteers organised an eye checkup camp for village students and their parents. Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre understands the need of holistic development of a child for nation building. It has always laid emphasis in sensitizing the college students by connecting them to the greater societal need through such volunteering opportunities and giving them challenges of finding the solution of perennial problems of villagers. After 3 years of these efforts at Jaitpur village Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre showcased its sincere efforts by inviting a sensitive and social stalwart as chief guest. Mr. Nagender Singh, our chief guest, DM Noida – inaugurated eye checkup camp of Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre for eight village school students and parents. Free spectacles were distributed and 2 identified cataract/glaucoma cases would be operated on 1st February by Mahavir International Charitable hospital.

He spoke straight from his heart and correlated Swami Vivekananda’s message of empowerment of an uneducated through education is what a real education means. He impressed upon importance of cleanliness/swachta education, skill development and women empowerment. He got women promised to promote toilets and education of the children and village students to plant a tree on their birthdays.

Students from Computer classes presented a street play on “Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao” followed by self defence demo of other empowered new group of village. Our women group, taught and trained by Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre were facilitated with a demo-cum training of “decorating items of beads” preparation for generating additional income to the family. A list of women and initiation of SHG was created with the help of Shri S.K. Jain, CAO – Mahavir International, Ex-Asst. Manager Oriental Bank. Mr. Jain promise them to get easy loans after 6 month of good practice and program of SHG. The day ended with a quiz related to Republic day. Eatables and food for doctors were sponsored by OM JI OM caterers.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre – Managing Director, Dr. Sushu Singh stated “Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre is keen to see further changes in Jaitpur through such awareness and empowerment activities which can then be replicated successfully in neighboring villages where such social interventions are required”.

3rd March 2016

Women's Week Celebration

To mark the occasion of "Women's Day-Week" Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre organized a program "Abhaar" along with launching of "Digital Jaitpur" and Eye & Health Checkup camp at Jaitpur village on 3rd March, 2016.

On March 3, 2016 at 10:30 am in the premises of Govt. Primary School, Jaitpur Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre along with student volunteers organized "Abhaar Lunch" to felicitate their Stakeholders, Goodwill Ambassadors to render their sincere most gratitude to all of them who had helped them realize the dream of every child & women of the village.

Knowing the fact we do not have systems that regulate the quality of education, 140 million children still out of school and an immediate need of 7 Lakhs of teachers, Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre addressed the issues of rigid education system in their global borderless world.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre showed its commitment towards the need of bridging the gap of digital divide by launching its "Digital Jaitpur" - new computer centre, where preparatory classes for NIIT certification course under trained teacher started in a rented premise. With Internet bringing a vast library of knowledge, creativity & innovation, the urgent need of providing this facility was felt. With no electricity from 8:00 am - 8:00 pm and no Internet in Jaitpur - it's seems to be a challenge but Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre appealed its stakeholders to support the initiatives to take it forward to all needy villagers.

Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre showcased its activities to all stakeholders with a focus on digital literacy, girl child education program, women vocational training and youth sports facilities. On this occasion

- A self-defense training phase-II was initiated which would end up on 8th March.
- A health checkup camp for school children and parents were organized.
- A SHG group of women received its 2nd phase of training of producing different items with ways to take up to the market.

All stakeholders showed their commitment and assured whole hearted cooperation. Managing Director - Sai Social Responsibility & Research Centre Dr. Sushi Singh urged them that “Dear Goodwill Ambassadors, as you are in a position to make a difference, together we shall be the change-we want to see in the society”.
