

SAI SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY RESEARCH CENTRE

CULMINATION OF SUMMER CAMP

SSRRC Celebrates Culmination of Summer Camp with Grand Valedictory Ceremony and Student Performances

Date: 05/07/2026

Venue: Safdarjung Flyover Slum Area, New Delhi

Organized by: Sai Social Responsibility Research Centre (SSRRC)

Marking the successful completion of weeks of intensive workshops, the Sai Social Responsibility Research Centre organized a vibrant grand finale on July 5, 2026, to celebrate the Culmination of Summer Camp. The objective of this event was to showcase the progress made by the young learners, appreciate their dedication, and honor the contributions of the mentors and volunteers who made the camp possible.

The event commenced on an auspicious note with the traditional chanting of the Vakratunda Mahakaya Lord Ganesha mantra, invoking blessings for wisdom, health, and barrier-free learning. Following the invocation, Dr. Susha Singh, Director of the Sai Social Responsibility Research Centre, addressed the gathering, praising the children's consistency, curiosity, and transformation throughout the summer program.

The culmination event featured a rich variety of student-led activities, artistic performances, and formal recognitions:

- "What I Learned in Summer Camp" Activity: Children participated in an interactive writing and recitation showcase. Each student penned a short reflection detailing the new concepts, creative skills, and moral values they acquired during the camp, standing before their peers and community members to proudly recite their work.

- Cultural Performances: The venue came alive with joyful singing and dynamic dance routines performed by the students. The children showcased their rhythmic talent, teamwork, and newfound stage confidence through patriotic and celebratory group performances.
- Award & Recognition Ceremony: A formal award presentation was held to celebrate excellence and service. Deserving students were awarded certificates and special prizes for outstanding attendance, creativity, and discipline. Additionally, all dedicated volunteers and mentors were felicitated on behalf of Dr. Susha Singh for their selfless commitment and leadership throughout the camp.

A video compilation of the overall summer school event was made and played on the projector.

The most heartwarming aspect of the day was seeing the faces of children light up smile looking at the video and receiving awards and recognition. The students expressed their talents freely on stage, surrounded by proud parents and local community members. The summer camp successfully provided these children with a safe, nurturing, and enriching environment to discover their potential.

Dozens of children, youth, and local residents attended the joyous celebration. Festive, healthy refreshments were distributed to all attendees to mark the grand occasion.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Sai Social Responsibility Research Centre reaffirmed its pledge to transition from the summer camp into regular weekly educational, sports, and mentorship sessions across slum communities.